

They Fight for You in Your Blood

Science is assured that the white corpuscles in the blood, popularly called "Little Soldiers," defend you against infectious and contagious diseases.

And that they do so only when they themselves are healthy and strong.

And that to make and keep them healthy and strong is to purify and enrich the blood.

The white corpuscles in your blood destroy the micro-organisms that attack the red corpuscles and the bodily tissues.

In this way they defend you. But they are not in condition to defend you, to fight for you, if you are troubled with eruptions, scurf, eczema, catarrh, rheumatism, that tired feeling, loss of appetite, nervousness or general debility.

all of which are indications that your blood is impure and impoverished and your system run-down.

It is good to kill two birds with one stone, whenever you can. The Hood's Sarsaparilla and it will cure any indication of impure and impoverished blood from which you suffer and at the same time make the little soldiers in your blood healthy and strong.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is the greatest preventive as well as curative medicine.

Its record shows this: "I have sold the different Sarsaparillas for the past fifteen years, and consider Hood's the best on the market. I use it in my family with the best results. Let a man use Hood's Sarsaparilla as an internal cleanser and Hood's Soap externally and he will be a clean man." C. E. Webb, Northumberland, N. H.

Hood's Sarsaparilla effects its wonderful cures, not simply because it contains sarsaparilla, but because it combines the utmost remedial values of more than 20 different ingredients, each greatly strengthened and ennobled by the peculiar action of the others. It is the very best of remedies that successful physicians prescribe for the same diseases and ailments. There is no real substitute for Hood's Sarsaparilla. If urged to buy any preparation said to be "just as good," you may be sure it is inferior, costs less to make, and yields the dealer a larger profit.

Begin taking Hood's Sarsaparilla today, in the usual liquid form or in the chocolate tablets known as Sarsatabs. 100 Doses One Dollar.

Bound to Be Sure.
The name and memory of Lincoln at the present time is very much in evidence in newspaper and magazine. It is well that we have brought to our attention the lives of our great men, particularly those that have stood for the highest ideals in our national life.

Abraham Lincoln is such a character and his life and work should always give us fresh inspiration and help in meeting inspiration and obligations of life. At the first Methodist church, Sunday evening, the Rev. Mr. Brown will speak from the well known expression of Lincoln: "I am not bound to win, but I am bound to be true."

Mr. Brown is an interesting speaker on any topic and the subject of his discourse Sunday evening will enable him to deliver a sermon of unusual excellence.

Here's a Bargain.
When the Hub Clothing store, corner of Main and Bank streets announce a bargain the general public knows that it is genuine. The half-century record of this store has established it not only in this city but throughout the county as one which stands for reliability in character and for the goods handled. It does not have "sales" at stated intervals or announce sweeping reductions. It handles the best goods which is sold at a fair margin of profit. As a result it has the best stock obtainable in the retail clothing line in this county.

When a surplus stock warrants it is disposed of regardless of the whole sale price. Just now there is an accumulation of stock and for a brief period men's suits that were sold from $12 to $15 a few weeks ago will be disposed of at $10 a suit. Boys' suits that brought from $5 to $8 will be sold at $3.50 in order to clear the counters for new stock. There is a display of the goods in the store of this store. Just look them over. They speak for themselves.

Busy people who do not like to lose a day and those to whom time represents money all of them recommend Cyrus Plaster for Backache. Book Committee—Grange Meeting—Double Wedding.

Yesterday at the Town hall a number of gentlemen held a meeting and accepted the charter of the Fairfield Light and Power Company which was granted by the legislature in 1907. The incorporators are Town Clerk Joseph I. Flint, Postmaster Pickett, Wallace M. Bulkley, and David Burr, the well-known shoemaker. Books were opened and subscriptions to the stock were received. Among those who subscribed to the capital stock were Samuel C. Morshouse of New Haven, Charles A. Paul of Bridgeport, and Charles B. Jennings, of Fairfield. These gentlemen have been made directors of the new company. Mr. Samuel C. Morshouse is President. Mr. Charles A. Paul is Treasurer and Mr. Charles B. Jennings, Secretary. Mr. Paul is well known as the manager of the Bridgeport division of the United Illuminating Company, 148 John street, and it is understood that the Illuminating Company will be the controlling factor in the new company, and as such the people of Fairfield may reasonably expect to see their town illuminated for long, with either gas or electricity. This new organization will command the confidence of the public, and there is little doubt that the light question will be speedily solved. Attorney William A. Redden acts as the legal advisor of the company.

The choir of the Lincoln celebration at the Library hall on the 12th inst. has been arranged as follows:

1—Summary of the chief dates in the life of Lincoln, compiled from Morgan's Lincoln, "The Boy and the Man," to be read by Supt. William A. Wheatley.

2—Bancroft's oration on Lincoln, by Judge John H. Perry of Southold.

3—Walt Whitman's "My Captain, Oh My Captain!" to be read by Mr. John M. Deyo.

4—"The City of Dreadful Night" and portions of the Second Inaugural, to be read by Rev. Dr. Frank S. Child.

5—Tom Taylor's Ode to Lincoln, read by Rev. Allen Beaman.

6—"The Battle of Gettysburg," "The Battle of Vicksburg," and "The Battle of the Wilderness," to be sung by the Fairfield Choral Society and the audience.

A number of portraits of Lincoln and other interesting relics will be on exhibition. The exercises mapped out are so interesting, it is anticipated that the hall will be crowded to its utmost limit.

Owing to the date of the new celebration, Mr. Mitchell's Current Events club will not meet next Monday, as had been announced, but is to be postponed until a week from Monday.

There are those who frequent the library who say it would be simply delightful if there were fire dogs in the fire place, a reading room, and logs blazing, with all the sparks going up the chimney.

The Book Committee of the library was in session yesterday afternoon. The members present included Mrs. Mabel Osgood Wright, Mrs. William A. Glover, Rev. Frank S. Child, Supt. William A. Wheatley, Rev. Allen Beaman, Mr. Sturges. The committee is expecting some large present of books from Mr. O. G. Jennings.

PRESIDENT HITS SPOILS SYSTEM.

Message Vetoing Census Bill
Sent to the House.

"WOULD BE FRAUD ON PUBLIC"

Noncompetitive Examinations Mean Addition to Expense and Time Involved in Enumeration, Declares Mr. Roosevelt—Quotes Census Officials in Support of His Contentions Has No Sympathy With Doctrine That "to the Victor Belong the Spoils."

Washington, Feb. 5.—President Roosevelt sent today to the house of representatives a special message vetoing the bill which provides for the taking of the next census. He bases his objection to the bill on the provision that appointments to the census force shall be made by noncompetitive examination.

The president says:

To the House of Representatives: I herewith return without approval house resolution 16,954, entitled "An act to provide for the thirteenth and subsequent decennial censuses." I do this with extreme reluctance, because I fully realize the importance of supplying the director of the census at as early a date as possible with the force necessary to the carrying on of his work. But it is of high consequence to the country that the statistical work of the census shall be conducted with the utmost accuracy. This is an important part of the standpoint of business and industry as from the scientific standpoint. It is therefore, in my judgment, essential that the result should not be open to the suspicion of bias on political and personal grounds, that it should not be open to the reasonable suspicion of being a waste of the people's money and a fraud.

Section 7 of the act provides in effect that appointments to the census shall be under the spoils system, for this is the real meaning of the provision that they shall be subject only to noncompetitive examination. The proviso is added that they shall be selected without regard to political party affiliations. But there is only one way to guarantee that they shall be selected without regard to politics and on merit, and that is by choosing them after competitive examination from the lists of eligibles provided by the civil service commission.

Objects to Spoils Idea. To provide that the clerks and other employees shall be appointed after noncompetitive examination and yet to provide that they shall be selected without regard to political party affiliations means merely that the appointments shall be treated as the perquisites of the politicians of both parties instead of as the perquisites of the politicians of one party. I do not believe in the doctrine that to the victor belong the spoils, but I think even less of the doctrine that the spoils shall be divided without a fight by the professional politicians on both sides, and this would be the result of permitting the bill in its present shape to become a law. Both of the last censuses, the eleventh and the twelfth, were taken under a provision of law excluding competition—that is, necessitating the appointments being made under the spoils system. Every man competent to speak with authority because of his knowledge of and familiarity with the work of these censuses has stated that the result was to produce extravagance and demoralization.

[The president here quotes in support of his contentions Robert P. Porter, who took the census of 1890; Frederick H. Winsor, the assistant director of the census of 1900, and Carroll D. Wright, director of the census bureau after the census of 1890. The last named says that $2,000,000 and more than a year's time would have been saved if the census force had been brought into the classified service.]

"Fraud Upon the Public." The noncompetitive examination in a case like this is not only vicious, but is in effect a fraud upon the public. No essential change is effected by providing that it be conducted by the civil service commission, and to provide that the employees shall be selected without regard to political party affiliations is empty and misleading unless at the same time it is made effective in the only way in which it is possible to make it effective—that is, by providing that the examination shall be made competitive.

I also recommend that if provision is made that the census printing work may be done outside the government printing office it shall be explicitly provided that the government authorities shall see that the eight hour law is applied in effective fashion to these outside offices.

Outside of these matters I believe that the bill, on the whole, satisfactory and represents an improvement upon previous legislation on the subject. But it is of vital consequence that we should not once again permit the usefulness of this great decennial undertaking on behalf of the whole people to be marred by permitting it to be turned into an engine to further the self interest of that small section of the people which makes a profession of politics.
